

Monthly Self-Improvement Through Self-Examination Worksheet

Instructions:

In the 'Maladaptive Trait' column for Week 1, please enter the four symptoms/personality traits that you would like to focus on for the month. In the same order, please repeat this list for Weeks 2 through 4. For each week, the trait in the blue cell will be the focus for that week. You will actively be working on making improvements in this area. At the end of the day mark an 'x' for each time you can recall falling short of the goal.

Please do not allow yourself to become discouraged. THIS IS NOT a tool to increase anxiety or to beat yourself up over. This is a way for you to increase mindfulness and awareness. If you so choose, you may hold yourself accountable to the goal by creating a modification behavior to implement if you are not satisfied with your weekly effort. Do not make this modification severe or unreasonable and do not obsess over shortcomings. It is important to not lose sight of the task of mindfulness. Do not treat this challenge as an opportunity to punish yourself. The focus should be on your successes.
